National Camps for Blind Children
Subject: Camp Applications.
To: Friends of Blind & Visually Handicapped Children.
Applications from visually handicapped boys and girls are pouring in far beyond expectations. Camps have been notified to expect increased enrollment. The treasurer has asked that we appeal to you for an extra gift now so no child will have to be refused. Children from 44 states and 5 canadian provinces will attend these special camps this summer!
First camp starts soon. You are invited to watch the fun and attend talent program on visitor's day - full directions to closest camp sent on request.
The blind children will experience a week of fun at camp. This plays an important role in their balanced development. A full week campership is still $50 or $10 for a day. Please return your check - large or small.
From each blind child we extend to you their "thank you." Your gift is tax deductible.

Herbert Pankey and Lynnette Hudson display dolls recently won during class visit to the House of Hwang in Lynchburg. Both are ninth-grade world geography students at Appomattox Intermediate School.

Chinese Treat

The 9th grade world geography classes at Appomattox Intermediate School lunched at the House of Hwang in Lynchburg on Thurs., May 31. The trip complimented their classroom study of the Orient.
During the visit Mrs. Shirley Hartzig, the restaurant owner and a former native of Taiwan, spoke on past and present Chinese customs. Also included in the talk was a demonstration on the use of chopsticks.
The meal, strictly consisting of Chinese food, included egg drop soup, sweet and sour pork, chicken chow mein, pork fried rice, egg rolls, and oriental tea.
The meal was completed with fortune cookies, two of which entitled two students to Chinese girl and boy dolls. Lynnette Hudson received a Chinese bride doll dressed in red. Herbert Pankey won the male doll, dressed in ancient costume.
Mr. Lee Alvin Beamon, principal, Mrs. Bonnie Bew, teacher, and four mothers accompanied the students on the trip.

Fashion

The one piece bathing suit is especially popular in gay prints of stretch fabrics. Bikinis are still worn by the young group but many of them feel more comfortable in the maillot.
Some of the new sun dresses have bodices gathered to fit, down to the waist line, which ends in a full skirt.
Stripes and polka dots vie with prints as favorites for summer garments.

The Pastor Speaks

The Church

To what Church do you belong? Protestant or Catholic? Are you a Presbyterian, Baptist, Episcopalian, or Methodist? Possibly you are in no way related to the Church!
One thing for sure: the Church is different. It is different from any other organization or club. No matter what Church you attend (or don't attend), the Church is different. It is so because God created it, not man. Often times we get that confused, don't we? We think WE created the Church for God!
One reason many people reject the Christian Church is because we Christians lead them to believe that the Church was created by us for us. We make of the Church just another Club!
The Church is God's. He created it and entrusted it to man. That's a great deal of responsibility, isn't it? To be entrusted with God's Church.
Our Lord Jesus is the President of the Church. He is the Head. He is the focal point of the Church. When He is not, we must check our sights. Maybe we're worshiping the wrong person.
Anyone who has been Baptized is a member of the Church. We often change our membership from particular Church families, but we still belong to the same Church (God's) because we all worship the same Lord, and all have been Baptized in the Name of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Spirit.
You and I are different in numberless ways. We do, however, have in common our Baptisms, our Lord, and His Church.
Thanks be to God.

The Rev. E. Moray Peoples, Jr. Minister
St. Anne's Episcopal Church

The Sunday School Lesson

HERBERT C. BRADSHAW

DURHAM, N. C., 27702

Comment on the International Sunday School lesson for June 10, 1973.
Topic: God Is Supreme
Scripture: Exodus 20: 3-6; Matthew 6: 24-34; James 4: 7-8
You shall have no other gods before me. Exodus 20: 3.

When Moses delivered to the Israelites the commandment, "You shall have no other gods before me," he gave it to a people familiar with the polytheism of the Egyptians. They were soon to come into contact with the polytheism of the peoples of the land of Canaan. These gods were in part anthropomorphic, gods in the forms of humans, and there were Egyptian gods represented with animal heads, the hawk and the bull, for example. Representation of these deities in the form of idols and other figures made the second commandment, "You shall not make yourself a graven image..." meaningful to a people who knew what it was to worship man-made representations of gods.
Even if the people of Israel had been familiar with the monotheistic worship of the sun encouraged by Amenophis IV, a pharoah who ruled according to some chronologies before the exodus, while the Israelites were slaves in Egypt, the first commandment ruled out this worship. The monotheism Moses taught was not merely monotheism, but it was the worship of the true God, the Creator, "I Am Who I Am." God is spirit and cannot be represented in any medium in which a craftsman works. Moreover, God is not in the form or nature of man, but rather man's Maker.
Moses would express the concept of God and the Character of true worship in the commandment, "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord; and you shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your might." An early prophet of Israel, Samuel, told the nation's first king, Saul, that obedience to God's commandments is a more acceptable worship than sacrifices of animals, reiterating the spiritual nature of worship which Moses had taught.
This week's International Sunday School lesson is not simply concerned with the need of an ancient people to be enjoined to worship the one God in obedience to His laws to counteract the influence of idolatrous and polytheistic neighbors. It is a timely lesson. In the Christianized culture of the Western world, the problem is no longer one of worshipping idols of stone or metal or wood representing deities, though there is somethin of this in the revival of demonic cults. But man still has idols and still worships them. They may be more subtle than the idols of the Egyptians and the Canaanites, but they are gods nonetheless. To whatever any person gives the priority, that is his god.
Jesus put the matter bluntly: "No one can serve two masters." And then in terms of a choice as contemporary as today: "You cannot serve God and mammon." Mammon is the personification of riches or money as a deity. In American society mammon, or money, is a principal rival of God for the priority in the minds and hearts of people. While the church's need for money to carry on its ministry and God's work in the world is not to be discounted, the church may put such an emphasis on money that it weakens its own power and influence in the social order. The church which fails to proclaim God's word in demanding of its people a pure morality and an ethic of righteousness and honesty, justice and mercy lest it offend contributors of money is choosing to serve mammon rather than God.
Mammon is not the only rival to God for the priority in the affection of people. Power, fame, and pleasure have high priority on the list of things people seek first. The political ideology of communism has become to many today a god to be worshipped, and it is waging a strong battle for the minds of men. Underlying all these is love of self, and man's ancient desire to be a god himself is widely prevalent. The primary of God needs the strongest emphasis believers can give it in doctrine and in practice as false gods attract multitudes of devotees.

Named To All-District Team

Mark Eggleston, a junior at Appomattox County High School, has been named to the Seminole All-District Baseball Team.
Mark played second base for the Raiders this season.
According to Coach Jerry Robinson, this is quite an accomplishment for Mark especially since he has not played baseball for two years. Mark also played Varsity basketball during the past two seasons. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Eggleston of Appomattox.
